

COUNTERFEIT AVOIDANCE

At Astute Electronics we recognise that in today's fast-moving electronics market, the risk of counterfeit or non-authentic components is one of the most serious threats to reliability, safety and supply-chain integrity. Our Counterfeit Avoidance service is purpose-built to protect you from those risks, bringing depth of expertise, global coverage and measurable assurance.

ACAP

Astute Electronics leads the industry in counterfeit detection, supported by advanced on-site test laboratories located in the UK, US, Germany and Hong Kong.

Through our market-leading Counterfeit Avoidance Programme (ACAP), we apply a robust, standards-driven process to safeguard every component. When parts originate from non-traceable or high-risk sources, they undergo comprehensive destructive and non-destructive analysis certified with AS6171 and AS6081 anti-counterfeit standards.

AS96171, AS6081, AS9120 & ISO 17025 CERTIFIED

Astute Electronics proudly holds AS6171 & AS6081 certifications, stamping our commitment to quality and reliability on the electronics sector.

These certifications confirm our status as authorised and regulated leaders in the industry, providing customers with the highest standard of solution providers.

LEADERS & CONTRIBUTORS TO EVOLVING STANDARDS

As innovators and leaders in the electronics industry, Astute Electronics actively contributes to evolving standards through the UK MOD Counterfeit Avoidance Working Group and the G19 Committee.

Our team of experts not only adheres to the current benchmarks but advises the industry and helps shape future regulations.

This leadership role underlines our commitment to 'explore the possible' and positions us as one of the global leaders in electronic component solutions.
